

Dear HOSA Advisor:

Being a State Officer is a big responsibility and takes a lot of time and energy. Students who are elected to state officer positions will be missing school to attend several planning meetings as well as the Regional Conference and State Leadership Conference. A student running for office must be well organized to keep up with their school work as they take on this additional responsibility.

Being the advisor to a State Officer takes extra time and effort on your part. Thank you for the support you provide.

This section of the HOSA Advisor Handbook includes a list of all State Officer Candidate obligations at the State Leadership Conference, a list of the meetings State Officers are required to attend and the complete State Officer Application.

Please be sure that a student wishing to run for state office receives all of this information.

State Officer Candidates and their parents may call me or email me if they have any questions.
